STUDENT RESEARCH ASSISTANT OPPORTUNITY – HEALTH LAW AND POLICY

Hourly rate: $16
Expected hours per week: 12, may vary depending on the work
Expected dates: This opportunity is expected to start as soon as possible and run through the spring 2021 semester
All work will be conducted remotely

Description:
The Center for Health Law and Policy Innovation (CHLPI) of Harvard Law School is seeking a Research Assistant to assist in preparing several pieces of research for publication and to help investigate law and policy issues related to the social determinants of health and efforts. Topics of interest will include nutrition, housing, transportation, health care and food support programs, efforts to address institutional racism in our health and public health systems, and Medicare and Medicaid. This work will be used to support ongoing health policy reform efforts in several states across the country.

For more information about the Center for Health Law and Policy Innovation (CHLPI) visit www.chlpi.org

How to apply: We welcome applications from students of non-law disciplines, such as from public health, medical, nutrition, and other related fields. Please submit your resume and brief statement of interest to Sarah Downer at sdowner@law.harvard.edu.

EEO Statement:
We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.