

CENTER for HEALTH LAW and POLICY INNOVATION
HARVARD LAW SCHOOL

Clinical Fellow
Health Law and Policy Clinic (Health Care Access Team)
Center for Health Law & Policy Innovation

Job Summary:

The Clinical Fellow works under the supervision of the Center for Health Law and Policy Innovation (CHLPI) clinical instructors to advocate for legal, regulatory, and policy reforms to expand access to high-quality healthcare; to reduce health disparities; and to promote more equitable and effective health and public health systems.

This position represents a unique opportunity to work within Harvard Law School's clinical program, to join a dynamic public interest and clinical teaching health and public health law and policy clinic, and practice in burgeoning areas of state and national importance.

Job Specific Responsibilities:

As a clinical fellow, you will:

- Serve as the lead attorney on one or more Health Law and Policy Clinic (HLPC) projects to increase access to health care and the quality of health care for low-income individuals and families, explicitly working toward racial justice and equality goals.
- Manage and direct the day-to-day work of one or more of HLPC's impact litigation cases, including the work necessary to design, administer and prosecute a successful lawsuit.
- Collaborate with other attorneys across the country on various litigation projects including amicus briefing, cocounseling, and litigation consultation.
- Support efforts to ensure that justice-oriented processes and goals are fully integrated into our work to improve the health of vulnerable populations living with HIV, HCV and other chronic health conditions.
- Collaborate as a team member on HLPC projects with clinical staff and students on policy development and advocacy, building upon and extending CHLPI's innovative work in health and public health law and policy.
- Work closely with students on the projects that the Fellow oversees and support student development in skills including problem-solving, law and policy analysis, research and writing, oral communication, time and project management, and leadership.
- Participate in office-wide projects and in the Center's program as a laboratory for innovation in legal practice and clinical legal education.
- Help to set and implement the vision for the ongoing development and success of the Clinic.

Basic Qualifications:

J.D. earned within the last three years.

Additional Qualifications:

We are looking for people who have:

- A track record of working in the public interest, especially in roles that involved litigation preferred.
- Experience in the fields of public health, health law, and/or community organizing and outreach preferred.
- An interest in working with clients, colleagues, and students of diverse backgrounds.
- The ability to work well independently and as part of a team.
- Exceptional research and analytical skills, and a strong ability to convey information orally and in writing.

Additional Information:

- Some travel may be required (once safe travel is resumed).
- The clinical fellow is a two-year appointment from start date. The fellowship is expected to start in the spring or summer of 2021.
- Compensation for fellowship (salary and benefits) is competitive with other public interest fellowships.

These duties are illustrations of the various types of work that the role entails. The omission of specific statements of duties does not exclude them from the position if the work is similar, related, or a logical assignment to the position.

This job description does not constitute an employment agreement between the employer and employee and is subject to change by the employer as the needs of the employer and requirements of the job change.

EEO Statement:

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

HOW TO APPLY:

A Cover Letter and Résumé/CV are required for all applications. An application without a cover letter will not be considered. Applicants should be prepared to submit a writing sample upon request. Please send applications and inquiries to: Laura Johnston, ljohnston@law.harvard.edu
